Wysiwyg Editor User
If the site administrator has selected the Wysiwig editor as the default at (Wysiwyg Editor Admin), the edit page will look like this:
×
If not enabled by default, the edit page would show a tab saying "Use wysiwyg editor", which would shift the editor from the classical (below) to the visual one (see previous image).
×
Shifting from visual editor to viewing html source code
Once using the wysiwyg editor, you can shift from the visual editor to the html source code, for instance, using the corresponding "source" button.
×
And after pressing at the "source button", the other content (html code) would be shown:
×
Tiki6: source shown only if the permission is granted
The wiki page edit toolbar in Wysiwyg mode since Tiki6 is now checking if the user has the permission to use HTML (tiki_p_use_HTML), in order to show the "source" button. Similarly, the permission tiki_p_wiki_view_source will be required to allow converting that html into wiki syntax.

